

Washington State Genealogical Society
recognizes

Janet Lemon McKinnon

of Richland, Washington

for exceptional leadership and consistent support of the goals and operation of the Tri-City Genealogical Society

Susan Faulkner (L) and Janet McKinnon (R)

Janet McKinnon has served the Tri-City Genealogical Society with distinction as the Vice President and Program Chair from 2010 through 2012, performing many tasks that helped to support the Society's mission and broaden an understanding of genealogy. Working closely with the Society's president, Susan Faulkner, and a team of enthusiastic volunteers, Janet took on many tasks associated with planning and managing the Washington State Genealogical Society's 2011 state conference held in the Tri-Cities. She helped to evaluate and resolve problems quickly, ensuring the state conference ran smoothly and was a major success. In past years, Janet has routinely worked two 4-hour shifts each week as a librarian at the Richland Family History Center helping patrons with their genealogy research. We are grateful to Janet McKinnon for her leadership and devoted service to the genealogical community.

Given this 8th day of September in the year 2012, at the annual meeting of the Washington State Genealogical Society at Port Angeles, Washington.
